About the Census

Every five years Statistics Canada conducts a census of every person in Canada. The information collected is the primary source of comparable, reliable demographic data in Canada; it is used by governments, businesses, associations, and many others in decision-making processes that affect everyone.

Census Definitions

Census family: refers to a married couple (with or without children), a common-law couple (with or without children) or a lone parent family.

Children: blood, step or adopted sons and daughters (regardless of age or marital status) who are living in the same dwelling as their parent(s), as well as grandchildren in households where there are no parents present. Sons and daughters who are living with their married spouse or common-law partner, or with one or more of their own children, are not considered to be members of the census family of their parent(s), even if they are living in the same dwelling. In addition, those sons and daughters who do not live in the same dwelling as their parent(s) are not considered members of the census family of their parent(s).

Common-law: refers to two people living together as a couple but not legally married to each other.

Intact family: refers to a family in which all children are the biological and/or adopted children of both married spouse or of both common-law partners.

Stepfamily: refers to a family with at least one biological or adopted child of only one married spouse or common-law partner and whose birth or adoption preceded the current relationship.

A simple stepfamily is a couple family in which all children are biological or adopted children of one, and only one, married spouse or common-law partner whose birth or adoption preceded the current relationship.

A complex stepfamily consists of any of the following: (1) there is at least one child of both parents and at least one child of only one parent; (2) there is at least one child of each parent; or (3) there is at least one child of both parents and at least one child of each parent.

Skip-generation family: refers to a census family that consists of grandparents and grandchildren without the presence of parents in the home.

Multiple-family household: refers to a household in which two or more census families occupy the same private dwelling.
